Who Was Don Bosco?

St. John Bosco, or as he is commonly called, "Don Bosco" (the Don meaning Father), was born at Becchi, a town of Asti on the foothills of the Italian Alps, on August 16, 1815. His father died when he was two, consequently, his childhood and his first years of study were filled with difficulties, including supporting himself while attending school by working at various trades (all of which he later taught his students))

He entered the Chieri Seminary and was ordained in 1841. He was stationed in Turin, an industrial center which attracted young people from neighboring towns and opened an "oratory", or boys' club for them. Although he did not hesitate to extend his priestly services to prisons and reformatories, he gradually came to realize that his mission was to prevent youngsters from falling into crime rather than to rehabilitate delinquents. Because of this, he opened his oratory to all boys. Soon, as many as 1,000 boys flocked to the oratory (just an open field and chapel) every Sunday for religious instruction, Mass, Sacraments, and a full day of fun and games with a few priests and Don Bosco. Kindness, understanding, and an endless patience brought these boys close to their faith.

Realizing that many of them needed continuous help, he enlarged the oratory into a boys' home. There, youngsters could live, and either work or attend classes in the city. To prepare boys for skilled labor, Don Bosco turned his mother's kitchen into a makeshift cobbler and carpenter shop; this was the first Catholic trade school in Italy (1853).

Leading educators soon came to admire the results of what he called the "preventive system". Don Bosco explained it as a happy blend of reason and religion. He indicated there was a sense of understanding between pupil and teacher, plus a devout reliance on the sacraments. Thus, he not only prevented delinquency but also produced leaders for industry and labor, as well as zealous religious and priests.

In 1859, at the insistence of Pope Pius IX, Don Bosco founded a religious congregation of priests and brothers, which he named Salesians, after St. Francis de Sales. This order was officially approved in 1874.

A tireless worker, Don Bosco died on January 31, 1888 in Turin, Italy, at the age of seventy-two. His parting message was typical of him: "Tell my boys I am waiting for them in heaven!"

Don Bosco was canonized in 1934 by his personal friend Pius XI. His feast day is January 31.

"The importance of religion in education is paramount. The realization of mysteries of science being revealed today unknown heretofore are nevertheless still, and always will be, the revelations of Almighty God to man. Therefore, we feel strongly about 'our school' with its thorough academic, technical training and its training of character based upon the realization that we are creatures of Almighty God, and that we owe to God the work, the service and the love and devotion to His Law."

James Francis Carndinal Mc Intyre

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Don Bosco Technical Institute has now completed twenty-five years of educational service. In all these years perhaps its greatest asset has been its students — talented, eager, wholesome young men from fine families.

They have been exposed to a technical-academic program unique to our school. This has been a benefit to industry and society, but most of all to the students themselves. This training developed their mechanical and technical abilities, as well as their intellectual and leadership talents.

As they have left the Institute to enter the world of work, or have gone on to continue studies at the university level, these young men have increasingly been a source of gratification and honor to our school. They have fulfilled in their lives the dream born in Cardinal McIntyre and blueprinted by Father Penna so many years ago.

To them, and to our benefactors, parents and teachers — to all who have made possible these past twenty-five fruitful years — I am most grateful. It is my prayerful hope that this Institute shall continue to yield a beneficial harvest for our past graduates and the generations of students that will follow them.

Sincerely,

William P. Schafer

Rev. William P. Schafer, S.D.B.
President

The history of an institution is measured by milestones of development, and so it is with Don Bosco Technical Institute. Goals achieved are the sum total of the efforts of all involved. On the occasion of this 25th Anniversary it is well to record some of these milestones of the Institute.

In the summer of 1952 plans for the educational facility began between His Eminence, James Francis Cardinal McIntyre and a number of civic and Industrial leaders of various religious faiths such as: Richard A. Grant, Willard W. Keith, Louis B. Lundborg, John Alex McCone, Adrien C. Pelletier, and Frank Roger Seaver. These men, among many others, were interested in a school which would provide quality technical as well as academic studies based upon sound moral and ethical standards. It was natural that they gravitated to Cardinal McIntyre, who, himself, represented a particularly dynamic spiritual leader with a special interest in education.

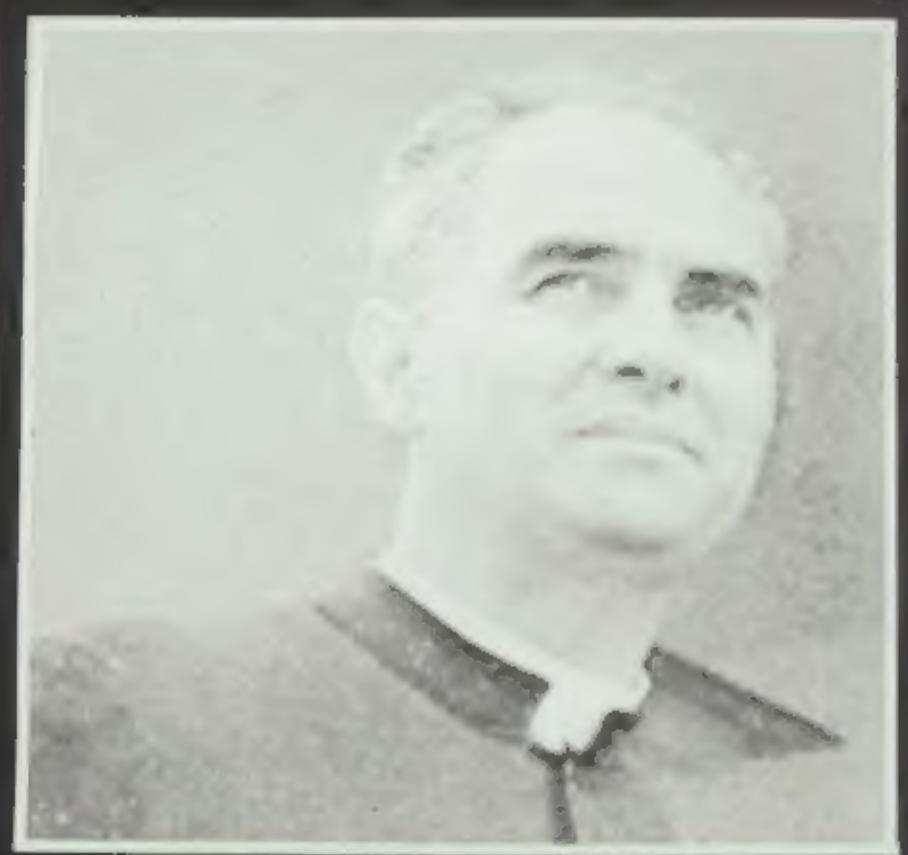

Cardinal McIntyre sought out the Salesian Society of St. John Bosco because it was noted for its interest in the character and educational formation of young boys. Under the enthusiastic leadership of Father Felix J. Penna, the Salesian Society joined the effort. The three way partnership between business and industrial leaders, the Roman Catholic Archidiocese of Los Angeles, and the Salesian Society had been forged. This partnership has served all involved well for the past twenty-five years.

The Beginning!

"We aim high at developing among average and better than average boys, leadership in labor management in this area . . . That such individuals will eventually become leaders either on the plant floor or behind the desk is our hope."

Father Felix J. Penna S.D.B.

The success of the diverse efforts of so many were realized with the opening of the first classes for students on September 12th, 1955. As later related by Father Penna, the first class members were truly pioneers, suffering the rigors of the unseasonable heat wave, excessive dust, and a water shortage. Despite many problems, the student body grew to a number of 600 by 1958.

In 1963 it was determined that the school should be independently structured. The non-profit corporation of Don Bosco Technical Institute was chartered July 17, 1963.

In August 1965, the Institute again blazed new educational trails. A nationally unique five year educational program was introduced. It provides a three year high school program and a two year junior college degree. This fulfilled the original dream of Fr. Penna.

The major strength of any organization resides with those responsible for its day-to-day conduct. Such is particularly true in a unique educational organization such as Don Bosco Technical Institute. Over the years the Tech has been administered by dedicated and outstanding men. Father Penna was followed by Father Thomas Prendeville, Father John Malloy, and our present President, Father William Schafer. These men have been aided by hundreds of Salesian Priests and Brothers, who have given of their special expertise in the academic and technology classrooms and laboratories.

From the first years the dedicated involvement of the lay faculty was evident. By 1960 the school had eleven lay members. As the Institute has grown there has been increasing dependency upon lay faculty and administrative personnel. In our 25th year out of a full compliment of 103 teachers, eighty are lay-faculty members. The Institute recognizes it could not continue without the constant dedication of these women and men.

DBTI'S SILVER YEAR

Mr. Lavar takes communion

Don Bosco Technical Institute, Rosemead, California planned a year long series of events, religious, academic and social, to celebrate its twenty-fifth birthday and usher in its next quarter century of service.

On September 12th, the faculty, and students opened their Silver Year with a solemn Liturgy of Thanksgiving concelebrated by the Most Reverend Mariano Moreno Ayala, Bishop of Los Angeles, Father Bernard Dabene, director, and Father William Schafer, president.

The Mass was followed by a general assembly whose chief feature was a multi media presentation of DBTI's story entitled "The Tech Experience". Narrated by Father Schafer and assisted by Brother Daniel Rogola, the film and slide presentation traced the Tech's origins, growth and progress through the years. Special tribute was made to the founders, James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, Father Felix Penna, and industrial leaders who had the faith and courage to co-operate in the formation of our unique educational institute.

The day was devoted to open house for all parents and visitors who streamed through the shops to see the students at work and understand some of the mysteries of technological training.

The State of California was represented on this opening day of festivities in the person of the Honorable Mike Curb, Lieutenant Governor, who was conducted on a tour of shops and the campus. Mr. Curb showed an enthusiastic interest in all of the school's modern equipment and techniques. The Lieutenant Governor praised the Tech's contribution to California's burgeoning industry, of the space age.

Of course there was time for everyone at lunch. After lunch all the students gathered to meet and mingle with noted celebrities. Our guests included Henry Winkler of Happy Days fame, Frank Phillips, two-time Academy Award nominee and cinematographer, Vince McEveety, director of popular hits Gunsmoke and Star Trek. Master of ceremonies for the occasion was Charles Chapman, Los Angeles Times film critic.

Happy Days are to the Tech

Fr. Vigano sports his B.S. jacket

Highlight of the day's festivities was the reception accorded to the Rector Major of the Salesian Society, the Very Reverend Egidio Vigano. He was ushered down the mall to the reception stand by the young men of the Tech Band and twenty-five vintage cars, one for every year of the school's history. Each car was driven by an alumnus who attended the Tech in that particular year.

As Fr. Vigano approached the welcoming stand for an official greeting, hundreds of brilliantly colored balloons were released into the clear blue California sky, dotting it with silver.

The Rector Major was welcomed by Mr. Robert P. Strub, present chairman of the D B T.I.'s Board of Trustees. Mr. Strub thanked Fr. Vigano for the contributions made by his Salesians to the metropolitan area's business and industrial development. The Rector Major was assured of the school's commitment to the highest standards of Christian education and modern technology. "This is a cherished dream come true, and we are thrilled that we have the opportunity of showing it to you," Mr. Strub concluded.

Father Schafer briefly addressed the assembly and introduced the honored guest on the stand: Father George Williams, regional superior, Fr. John Vecchi of Rome, and one of the school's most loved benefactors, Mrs. Frank Roger Seaver

Father Vigano expressed his personal satisfaction with the school's magnificent progress, congratulating faculty and student body for their energetic pursuit of excellence in the labor field. Then he put on the school's jacket bearing his name which was a gift of the Student Council. Father Vigano concluded by proudly saluting the Tech's jubilee and wished us a century of more growth and success

That evening a testimonial dinner was held to honor the Rector Major. The festive affair was attended by Salesians, guests, and parents. For those present it was a tender re-living of all the years of work and service which had taken place to make the Tech a successful Institute

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

Sister Mary Jean Ellen Shields - Librarian

Sister Jean Ellen was born in Rock Island, Illinois. She received her B.A. from Marquette U. and an M.A. from St. Louis U., and an M.A. in Library Science from Rosary College. Sister joined the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary in 1930. She has taught in the elementary and secondary school levels, as well as serving as Librarian in both the private and public sector.

Sister came to Don Bosco Tech in 1972 where she faced the formidable task of converting our "Library" into a real learning center. Our present library is a tribute to the dedication, devotion, and ability of one person, Sister Jean Ellen.

The yearbook staff wishes to extend its gratitude to Sister for her service to our school and congratulate her on her fifty years of dedication to religious service.

Father Alfred P. Broccardo

Father Alfred P. Broccardo, SDB (Salesians of Don Bosco) celebrated his 50th Anniversary as a Salesian priest on Sunday, February 1st, with a special mass of thanksgiving at the chapel of St. Joseph's Salesian Youth Center at 2:30 in the afternoon.

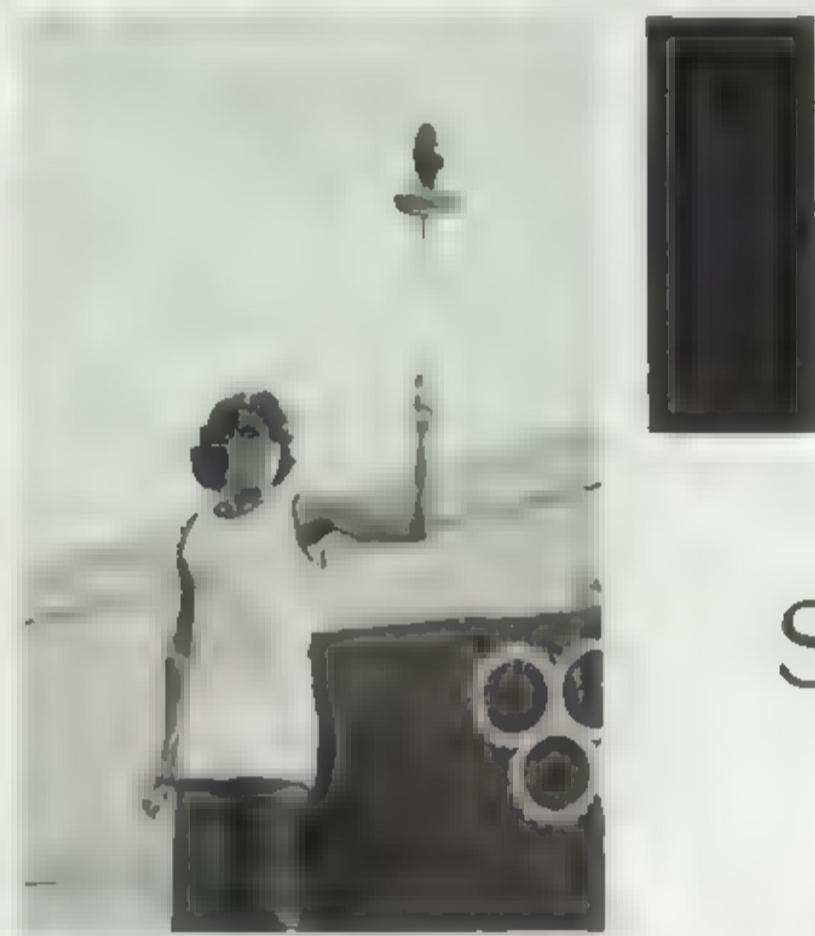

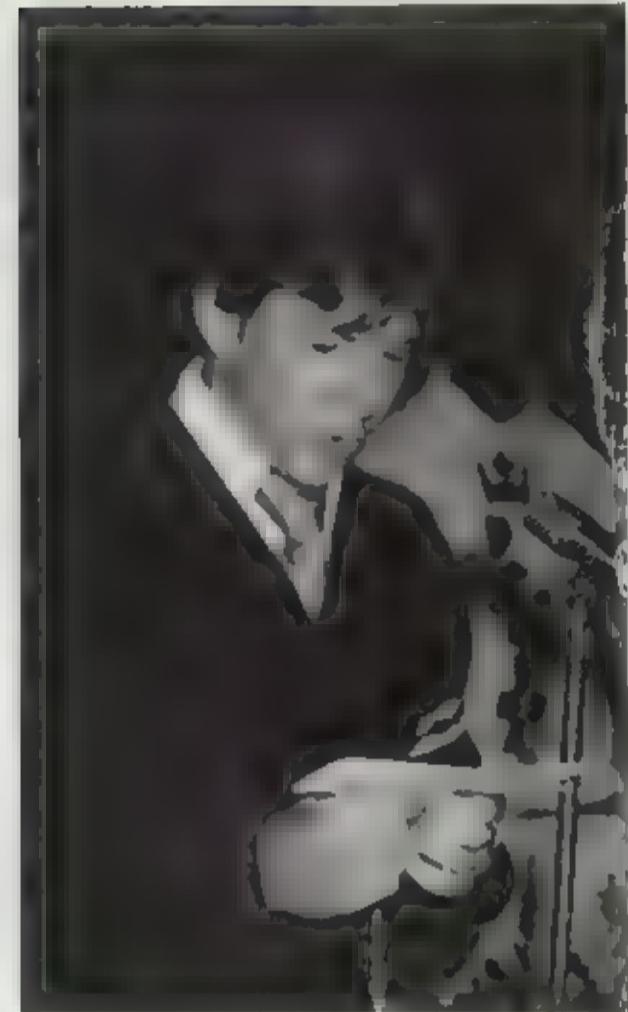

Affectionately known also to his friends as Fr. Brooks he was born in Padova, Italy on December 30, 1903 and came to the United States in 1922 to New Rochelle, New York for his college studies. Upon completion was sent to Watsonville, California as a teacher at St. Francis School.

Father Broccardo was ordained a Salesian priest on Feb. 2, 1931 in San Francisco, CA, and was sent to St. John Bosco High School in Bellflower in 1944 as a teacher of religion and finally as superior. He has served in many of the Salesian schools in California. Serving for three years as the Director of St. Joseph's Juniorate, he is currently teaching at Don Bosco Technical Institute in Rosemead.

He is active as Chaplain with the Knights of Columbus, Mission San Gabriel and the Italian Catholic Federation #122 and several of the nearby convalescent/nursing homes.

The yearbook is happy to co-dedicate our 1981 Techman to Father Broccardo for his 50 years of religious service.

25 YEARS OF SERVICE

Mr. & Mrs. Guseffi with Grandchildren

Mrs. G. Began at the beginning of Don Bosco Technical's life in 1955. She has served us with unfailing devotion. We remember her as the eyes and ears of the Tech. When you couldn't find out what was going on or whom to turn to, there was always Mrs. Guseffi. If she did not know, no one did. She has been our mother, our doctor, our nurse, our babysitter, our friend. We wish to remember her in our 1981 yearbook with love and concern.

Note crowd support and interest

This year the Water Polo Team was coached by Mr. Sergio Bricca and Mr Hartwig. The season overall was positive and certainly a proud one for the team. In the Del Rey League, Bosco Tech placed 2nd for the season and qualified to play in the CIF playoffs. They unfortunately lost by one point against Workman High School.

The Freshman team was very young and promises to be a strong contender in the future. We miss Bro. Pat Borrege who coached for several seasons. However, the team expects a good future under Mr Bricca's guidance

This year the team rode high on the heels of success thanks to the expert card playing of Captains Tim Lambert an the wily newcomer Vince "The Kid" Perez. During the season the group broke the old winning streak record of 19 straight wins by Hooterville's 1971 team, and ran up their total to an amazing 31 consecutive victories.

PRODUCTION NOTES

Upon returning from a boys' summer camp, the director found that the play he had planned to schedule for December had been moved up to October. In six weeks the cast was auditioned and picked, rehearsals gone through and set built. In the process we lost two leading ladies, one supporting actress, one servant, and one sound technician. The production was halted a few times for some unfortunate reasons but for four nights in October the audiences saw the results of a dedicated cast a cast willing to sacrifice themselves to the last person.

OLIVER!

The Musical "Oliver" was the second play tackled this year by Fr. Jesse Montes. It played the first two weekends in April.

During Easter vacation 1980, a group of adventurous Bosco Tech students, guided by Mr. Stoltz, were fortunate to tour Peru

Their first stop was Lima. Besides the usual sights of a South American capital city - presidential palace, ancient cathedral, huge plazas, old Spanish colonial buildings and modern expensive homes - there were some unexpected ones - surfers in the cold Antarctic currents and the 75,000 skeletons (not of surfers) discovered exploring the catacombs under San Francisco church

A spectacular flight took them next into the snow covered Andes to 11,200 foot high Cuzco, the former Inca capital. Good Friday night they witnessed an Indian burial ceremony for the dead Christ, and on Easter they watched the parade of Indian mayors at Pisac where thousands of colorfully costumed Indians had gathered from all over

From Cuzco they traveled to Mucha Picchu, the fabulous hideaway of the Incas on a tropical mountain peak 8,875 feet above the Urubamba River. The view from the ruins is considered by many travelers as "the most dramatic place in the world," and "one of the wonders of the world." It was reached by a wildly scenic train and microbus ride - in all, an unforgettable, thrilling experience

On their next jet they were able to look down into the cone of El Misti volcano (20,000 feet) before landing at Peru's second largest city, Arequipa, whose buildings are made from white volcanic rock. From here they drove north along the Pan American Highway through one of the world's driest deserts. At Nazca a small plane was used to see the mysterious lines which Von Daniken in Chariots of the Gods claims to be directional signs and landing strips for ancient astronauts. Our students weren't convinced, but most were airsick afterwards. One of the 800 year old Nazca burial sites dug up by grave robbers was explored next. The bodies had been mummified by the extremely dry air. Further north, at Paracas, a speedboat ride took them past another "directional sign" to the Ballestera guano islands, populated by enormous flocks of sea birds and herds of sea lions

The trip's concluding highlight was a flight over the Andes to Iquitos on the Amazon River. A long boat ride took them to their jungle lodge from which the fascinating plant, animal, bird, and Indian life of the region was explored. The most interesting Indians were the Yaguas who hunt with blowguns and wear grass skirts.

While these were the highlights, there were many other enjoyable adventures that contributed in making this a once-in-a-life time vacation experience

BLOODMOBILE

On Oct. 15, 1980, the American Red Cross Bloodmobile came to Bosco Tech. 80% of the projected donators actually donated. Teachers and students comprise the majority of the donators but any person 17 years of age, or older, and in good health, is eligible.

Fr. Dave Purdy began the Bloodmobile tradition last year and hopes to keep it going for many years to come. The next Bloodmobile is scheduled to visit Bosco sometime in May, 1981

To Danny.

Well I'm signing this crappy yearbook, be happy.

When we finally get to Puente Hills mall you'd better be prepared for
Frannie ok? who is FRANCING?

Elizabeth might fall for you,
(E H) don't worry she's cute, but she's already got a boyfriend.
Well this is way more than what
I put in Frannie's book, but why should I mention her low-life name
her  OH! Well!
we could be watching right now
6-19-819
well see it wednesday o.k?
Don't die in the heat, now
bye.
